Off-Premise Sales Increase 5% in May and 6% for 12 Months

The rate of growth in off-premise sales of domestic wine was 6% for 12 months ending in May, according to IRI, the Chicago-based market research firm. When rounded, this growth rate was one point lower than in April, but the decrease reflected only a 0.2% drop in the growth rate.

	Month	12 Months
May 2014	$569 mil	$7,651 mil
May 2013	$532 mil	$7,061 mil

Included in the 5% May growth in domestic wine sales was a more dramatic rise in sparkling wine sales. Sparkling wine grew 10% in May alone compared to May 2013 and rose to $19 million during 12 months.

Another source confirmed the trend. Gary Heck, chairman of California’s Korbel Champagne Cellars , said he understood that domestic sparkling wine shipments from all wineries were up 13% this year through March, and that Korbel’s had grown by 8%. One reason for the growth may be an increased consumption of sparkling wine by Millennial consumers, particularly as a mixer in cocktails, Heck said. He is optimistic about the sparkling category as a whole. “I think that it’s going to be a pretty good year for everybody, domestic and imports.”

Lone Import Leads Top 20 Off-Premise Luxury Brands

Wines & Vines ranked the top 20 off-premise brands priced at $20-plus per bottle, using IRI data. The only import brand in the top 20 is also No. 1 in sales. Santa Margherita, the Italian brand imported by Terlato Wines International and famous for its Pinot Grigio, tallied $36.5 million during 12 months as it grew 4% in sales and reached 147,025 cases. At No. 2 and $16 million behind Santa Margherita was Decoy, a brand of Napa Valley-based Duckhorn Wine Co. Decoy moved up from No. 4 the last time we ranked them two years ago. Its sales grew 50% in the year and volume grew to 85,893 cases. Sonoma-Cutrer from Brown-Forman dropped from No. 2 to No. 3 this time. Brands with retail prices of $20 and above at the beginning of the time period were included; the average price of four brands dropped below $20, however, during 12 months.
